

Local Colleges

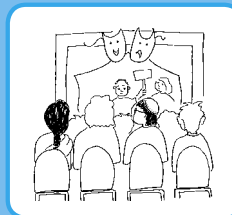

Going to a local college is something you may want to do after you finish school.

Local colleges have lots of different courses and can help you get qualifications.

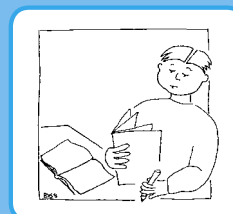

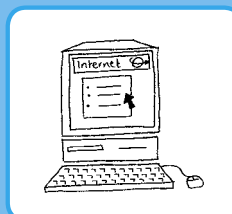

You can do courses where you learn about different types of work, like health care and office work.

You can do courses where you study something you are interested in, like Drama, Music and Art.

College courses can help you improve your skills in subjects like IT, English and Maths.

You can also learn more about how to look after yourself as an adult.
